HEROIC ENDURANCE AND SUBLIME COURAGE OF SERVIAN ARMY AND PEOPLE UNEXCELLED IN HISTORY

(By George Renwick)

Monastir (by courier to Saloniki, Nov. 3, and by cable to London).—I have just returned here after a visit to that part of Serbia north of the wedge of the Bulgarian invasion. Owing to interruption of the usual routes it has been necessary to come here through Nish, Pristina, Prirend, Eastern Albania, Ditya, and Ochrida, involving the use of all methods of travel, from an automobile to the native bullock cart. The journey included four days' hard riding on horseback through mud and across the mountains and torrents of the wildest part of Eastern Albania.

Through more than a fortnight of difficult travel, the Serbian authorities at all places rendered me every service without which I should still be a prisoner in besieged Serbia.

The main impression in my mind is the superb courage of the Serbian army and people in their dark days of trial and the magnificent human qualities with which they face death, homelessness, wounds and hunger, and all the terrible tragedies of war.

I have seen much of this war, but nothing so inspiring as the behavior of the Serbian nation, which has been at war for three years, and still its fortitude is something to marvel at; its heroism still lives, and its determination has known no abatement. There is not the faintest sign of weariness nor the least desire to say that sword and right arm can do no more. This struggle will go on if need be, to the last yard of Serbian soil and the last cartridge of the last patriot. In the meantime, in the south, the forces of the allies gather, and in the north every Serbian heart is steered to hold on.

During my stay in Northern Serbia I visited the Danube front, at the invitation of Marshal Putnik, and spent some time at the headquarters of Gen. Boyavitch, commanding the division before Uskub.

The veteran marshal is one of the heroic figures of the war. Just three years ago I saw him leading to victory against the Turks the fine army he created. He was a dapper figure, the pride of the Serbian soldiers, but age—he is 68—has worked a difference since then. The soldier sees him no more. Suffering from acute asthma, he is forced to keep to a heated room, but illness has not lessened his tremendous mental energy.

He works at headquarters with a personal staff of only five officers. Marshal Putnik seldom, if ever, refers to a map. Before his mind's eye he can see all Serbia spread out before him like a gigantic relief map, and he knows that map down to the minutest details.

I went north into Serbia by the last train before the Bulgarians cut the line, and at midnight, October 18, I left Kraguyevatz for the front, in the Shaumandria division. (That division is composed of men of the Morava valley, "the garden of Serbia," and is commanded by Col. Bugdior Terzich. This is the flower of the Serbia army, a division which never before has retreated. Its commander is a hero of Kumanovo, and a soldier who has seen perhaps more service in the Balkans than any other military leader. While with the division I gathered a fairly complete story of the German attack.

The great bulk of the attacking force are Germans on the Danube line where Field-Marshal von Mackenzon opened his campaign on October 5. The emperor told a Balkan diplomat that he would send his best general against the Serbs. Soon Mackenzon found that he was up against the most serious piece of work of the war. Never, indeed, was a line of battle so gallantly defended. Against them three furios attacks had to be delivered before success was achieved. Semendria held out against three onslaughts, and only succumbed to the hellish artillery fire with which the fourth was accompanied. To obtain a footing at Zaraje three attacks were necessary. All these efforts resulted in heavy losses and compelled Mackenzon to ask for reinforcements.

At Belgrade the bombardment commenced October 5. From behind Semtin a battery of 42 centimetre guns rained shells on the city, throwing up debris to the height of a five-story house. Every square yard of the city was systematically scorched by machine-gun fire. When crowds of refugees were streaming out of the city German airplanes appeared and dropped bombs on them. But there was no panic.

Until that reign of death, attack after attack was driven back, but at last the enemy gained a footing. Then the most formidable part of the German's capital street by street. It is no exaggeration to say they had to pay a price for every paving stone. Prisoners have told me it was appalling work. Every street corner seemed to be a citadel. On October 8 the street fighting continued fiercely, and before the Germans were masters of Belgrade the city was a ghastly mass of smouldering ruins, strewn with a covering of dead.

Here is a little story which shows the heroic spirit of the Serbian people. Near Palanka, I met a little comitadj of 15 years, who, in his street, with five comrades and a supply of hand grenades, kept a German company at bay for two hours. He had three shrapnel wounds, but was smiling and eager to fight again. His chief promoted him corporal.

Once in possession of the city, the Germans opened a terrific fire on the Serbian positions behind it. The lines of trenches were searched with a fire of fiendish accuracy. Facing Belgrade and Semendria, the river bank was often a long, continuous line of flame, but the capture of the hills behind the two towns was frightfully expensive. Every one had to be covered with dead to be won.

In his room silence reigns. Officers come and go. Decisions are swift and unflinching. And this little, level-headed, pain-troubled soldier is holding his task with the sublime courage, watching a front nearly equal to that guarded by the legions of the czar.

On the Drina he found his task equally heavy. Time after time the attacking forces were driven back with appalling losses. Capt. Milanomanovitch told me the Germans were staggered by the opposition they encountered. In the encounter in which he was wounded, the Germans landed a force of 500 men across the river. Not a single man of that party returned alive. After about 10 days' severe fighting Mackenzon concentrated his forces on positions beyond Belgrade and Semendria, his object being to drive south from the former place to Kraguyevatz, while the Semendria army was to ascend the Morava valley. This army was evidently intended to join hands with the Bulgarians and their united forces were to turn the Serbian right, while the Belgrade army enveloped the Serbian left.

On October 18, at Malakrehna, south of Semendria, after showing 10,000 shells on the Serbian position, the enemy took it. No sooner were they in possession, however, than a strong force of Serbian infantry, concealed in the forest, drove the Germans out of the position. While the enemy retreated Serbian cavalry did heavy execution, the enemy leaving three guns on the field. The German left had to retire six kilometres. On the same evening, however, the enemy advanced again in great force and partially made good the loss of ground.

On the 19th the Germans advanced to Rajza, south of Belgrade, and the height of Avallava was also captured after heavy fighting, extending from October 18 to October 19, when the enemy's most serious efforts were put forth.

Meanwhile, in the Morava valley progress was equally difficult, and on October 19 the German advance lines were no further south than the line extending from North Lubejevo bridge eastward to slightly north of Poshevac. To gain that strip of territory the Germans had to struggle for two weeks.

I motored north from Aelanka to where Col. Terzich's division was holding a position, and I was allowed to proceed to the front line. It was a most imposing spectacle. The far front was the purple blue mountains of Hungary, their dark sides lit up with the constant lurid flare of the German heavy artillery.

BRYAN'S DANGEROUS POLICY

William Jennings Bryan would cheerfully condemn the United States to the fate of Belgium, for this can be the only rational interpretation, placed upon his opposition to the "preparedness" policy that has been submitted to the American nation. How vastly different is the attitude of the Alberta Americans, who are planning to train themselves in the use of arms so that they may be ready to fight if Germany declares war on the States.

Bryan says in the last edition of his paper, "The Commoner": "Peace among nations, as among individuals, rests upon friendship and goodwill, and not upon force or fear."

This was precisely the smooth doctrine that Belgium practiced, and yet what has been that unhappy country's fate? Does Bryan know of its utter and unrepentable ruin? Of the brutal hostility of the Germans that cannot be put into words? If honor prevailed throughout the world, Bryan's peace sentiments would be reasonable, but does he not know that three quarters of the Armenian race, which professes the same religion that he professes, has been exterminated, or worse, by the Hun's allies, the Turks?

than to preach his peculiar peace gospel.

The United States has stood aloof as a nation, but as individuals the Americans have not stood aloof and are not standing aloof. One German newspaper urges its government to provoke a civil war in the United States, so that the English, the Irish, the Scotch, the Welsh, the French, and the Italians, who owe allegiance to the Stars and Stripes, may be placed under the heel of the Teutons, who are residents of Uncle Sam's dominions.

If German agitators were successful in an agitation of this nature, the backbone would scorch the Teuton nation to its very vitals.

BRUTAL FATHER WAS GUILTY OF MURDER

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 5.—The jury inquiring into the death of Mike Jakubson, whose death occurred about three years ago, and is alleged to have been caused by "his father's brutality," have brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by an iron rod penetrating his head thrown by his father, Joseph Jakubson.

Jakubson's wife and a son and daughter gave incriminating evidence. His wife swore that Jakubson had killed a man in the States, according to a letter she had received from her cousin. All three told of Jakubson having abused them. The wife and son swore that Jakubson shot at his son, Joseph, on one occasion.

KELLY BURNED ALL THE PAPERS ON LAW COURTS

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 7.—Early in October, apparently almost directly after the government appointed a commission to investigate the law courts contracts, Maurice Kelly, son of Thos. Kelly, though not a member of the firm of Thomas Kelly & Sons, removed from the firm's office most of the documents relating to the connection of Thomas Kelly & Sons with the construction of the law courts. This was revealed today in the evidence before Commissioner Mathers of the Royal Commission, of Roy L. Worthington, estimator for the Kelly firm. Some of the documents were burned and others were taken across the line. Mr. Worthington said that he was out of the city about the end of September, and when he returned he was told that the papers dealing with the law courts had been removed. Maurice Kelly later told him he had taken them and burned some and had taken others to Detroit, Minn. Maurice Kelly said further that he had taken the papers so that none would be found in the event of another search such as instituted by the Crown for papers relating to the parliament buildings contract.

So far as Thomas Kelly & Sons are concerned it looks as though there were some reasons for the removal of these documents, said Mr. Pitblado. "Some cogent reason," agreed the commissioner.

APPLES

"Prairie people must expect to pay higher prices for apples this year than last," said W. E. McTaggart, the Fruit Commissioner for the British Government, with headquarters at Calgary, recently. Nova Scotia and Ontario both have short crops of apples this year, while in British Columbia will have an average crop which will in all probability total about 666,000 and perhaps more.

Our grocers have already sold a large flock of apples at their own prices. We have kept out of the prairie market a large quantity of imported fruit this year, and we expect to hold our own against any fruit from the United States, and furthermore, the prairie people should at all times remember to ask for Canadian fruit. British Columbia's products have captured some of the most coveted prizes in the Fruit World.

From the prairie provinces we import over $12,000,000 worth of grains, flour, pork and beef products, as well as butter and eggs, and we certainly look to the prairies to purchase the greater portion of our fruit crop, and they do, because 70 per cent. of the fruit produced in British Columbia is marketed in the three Western Provinces.

Advertising has been a mighty factor in the selling of our fruit, continued the Government official. This year we have spent a large sum in advertising our small fruits, and we expect to do more to create a demand for our apples.

One thing the growers of British Columbia would like to impress on those who have never lived in a fruit district, and that is to eat the right apple in the right season. Every apple has its season, just as spring and fall wheat have theirs. At the present time our Jonathan Apples are being displayed by the local dealers, and this is the variety that should be asked for by the prudent housewives, while shortly the Wagners will be arriving in fairly large quantities, concluded Mr. McTaggart.

Have you ever heard the expression, "Oh, I never had the opportunity to learn"? Nobody in Lacombe need ever say they have not got the opportunity to learn; at least the opportunity is within your grasp to learn the Violin or Mandoline. Mrs. Rose Greve is a trained musician, an experienced teacher, and professional violinist. You do not have to leave home and go to college; you can get your musical training here, in fact right in your own home. She is also willing and ready to go with you to choose an instrument. Remember, the right foundation in building up a musical education counts. Think this over.

Don't forget M. Patrick's sale on the 22nd. At this sale you will have an opportunity to buy some of the best live stock in the Lacombe district. See next week's paper for list. C. F. Damron, Auctioneer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rutledge, of Des Moines, Iowa, parents of Mr. Chas. W. Rutledge, Manager of the Farmers' Mutual Hail Insurance Association, are here on a visit to their son. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rutledge, of Omaha, Iowa. W. A. Rutledge is the Manager and Secretary of the Farmers' Mutual Hail Insurance Association, of Iowa, and is here on an inspection trip. He reports a great business for his company on the other side, and they have just closed a very successful season. The rate in Iowa this year was $19 per thousand insurance, and while Mr. Rutledge does not anticipate that the Alberta branch will ever be able to get down to such a low assessment, he is convinced that if the farmers stay with the Mutual it will pay them in the end. The greater the volume of business the lower the assessment will be. The visitors will remain here a couple of weeks before proceeding home via the Pacific Coast, visiting the Exposition en route.

Nov. 17th is the day set for Ray Van Loan's Public Sale. A choice lot of young horses and cattle, as well as a full line of farm implements and household goods, will be sold. No Reserve. See full list on another page. C. F. Damron, Auctioneer.

RED CROSS NOTES

The Red Cross sewers and knitters will please meet at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Sharpe on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The donation of one feather pillow and two pillow-cases, from "A Friend" in Blackfalds, is hereby acknowledged by the Lacombe Branch.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

A meeting of a very helpful nature, both intellectually and spiritually, was held in the Methodist Church on Monday evening, and was under the care of the Missionary Committee. The study of Japan and Korea was taken up in all its phases, papers being read by the following young people: Adna Reeves, "Korea"; Miss Lillie Sharpe, "Japan"; Miss Moak, "A Letter from a Missionary." Mrs. Meisner, the President of the League, gave a short talk on both countries, dealing with them geographically from an imaginary map.

The first of the lantern-slide entertainments will be given next Monday evening under the charge of the Social Committee. This promises to be a real treat, and the public are cordially invited to attend. Announcement of the lantern-slide subject will be made at both morning and evening services next Sunday. These lantern entertainments are to be a feature at the social evening meetings throughout the winter.

GRACE METHODIST CHURCH

On Sunday, Nov. 14, Rev. E. T. Scragg will preach on the following subjects:

At 11 a.m.—"The Tax-Troubled Man."
At 7 p.m.—"The Most Popular Sin in the World."

Sunday School and Bible Class at 12.15 p.m.—The children and adults are invited to participate with us in the Study of the Word.

Epworth League meeting every Monday evening at 8 p.m. The public, both young and old, are always sure of a hearty welcome at this very helpful service.

Appointments and Promotion.—To be Provisional Lieutenant and Supernumary attached to "A" Squadron: William Arthur Shields, of Lacombe, Alberta, Gentleman.

DRAMATIC ENDING TO COURT CASE

Mr. A. H. Randler will not trade again under his son's name in the west country from Lacombe, as the result of a decision given by Judge Lees at the Sittings of the District Court last Wednesday.

Randler was working on commission and had found farmers who were willing to trust him with their cattle, but as he had various judgments against him for large amounts he was keeping his money in his son's name in a Calgary bank. Some time ago this was garnished by Messrs. MacDonald & McBride, Solicitors of this Town, on behalf of creditors, but the son claimed the money, amounting to $1,170.00, as his, and attempted to fight it out in Court. Randler was the first witness called, and gave evidence that he was working for his son, but under an effective cross-examination by Mr. McBride, who was handling the case for the creditors, Randler's story went to pieces, and he contradicted himself so often that he is closer to perjury than is comfortable. Judge Lees finally suggested that the son would be well advised to withdraw his claim. This the son agreed to do, (with suspicious promptness when it is remembered that he claimed the $1,170.00 as his), and the case came to a sudden end, no further witnesses being heard.

After giving judgment in favor of the Creditors, the Judge gave directions to Mr. McBride to consult with Crown Prosecutor Russell, of Red Deer, with a view to prosecuting Randler for perjury, and the criminal proceedings are now under consideration.

A case such as this will be a warning to many in the Province who are not at all scrupulous about an oath or whether they are telling the truth when in the witness box. We are fortunate in having in this district an energetic Judge, who evidently intends to see that witnesses in his Court tell nothing but the truth or else they will be sorry. The case will also be a warning to anyone who might be tempted to follow Randler's example; that it is not so safe as it looks to put money away in the name of a relative.

FIGHT OR PAY

"Fight or Pay" is the slogan of the Patriotic Society, and all citizens of the Lacombe District are soon to be asked to do one thing or the other. The Patriotic Society in Lacombe has been working hard for the past few weeks perfecting plans for their campaign for funds, and are now ready to approach the people. Collectors will go out in a few days, and their intention is to call on every resident in town and district. You are expected to give all you can to the cause, and we have no doubt that Lacombe will make a good showing. You can either pay a lump sum to the collectors, or make a monthly payment. No matter how small your donation it will be very acceptable, as the money is needed.

Mr. John Blue, of Edmonton, will meet the workers of Lacombe in the Town Hall on Thursday evening (tomorrow), and give an outline of the mode of procedure, and other information.

Be prepared to "Fight or Pay."

A LETTER FROM ARCHANGEL

Mr. J. B. McBride has received a letter from his brother, who is in the Russian naval service, telling some interesting experiences about freighting the supply of munitions from the Allies in to the Russian port of Archangel. "Up in Archangel" he writes:

"There was no news of a 'kind to be got, and as regards letters it was a most difficult job to get a letter away. We had to take them on board some ship leaving for England and ask some of the officers or engineers to post them when they arrived. The Russian Post-Office is in an awful mess. I had about a dozen letters sent me, and I only got two, and was told that I was lucky to get them. There has been terrible damage to shipping in the White Sea this summer. The Straits at the mouth were crammed with mines. It is a miracle how we escaped. We went up in a convoy of ten ships; there were six British mine-sweepers in front of us, and over the distance of about seventy or eighty miles they exploded over a hundred mines. Out of the ten ships in the convoy, seven arrived safely at Archangel; two were sunk and one damaged. I saw one of the ships go down. She was a Russian ship of about eight thousand tons. She must have struck a mine, because she went down stern first, only floating for three and a-half minutes after the explosion."

"MacLay & MacIntyre, the Company who owned the ship before the Russian Government took her over, sent four ships to Archangel inside a fortnight. We were the last of the four to leave, and we were the only one of the four that got the length of Archangel. Two were sunk by mines, and one went ashore in a fog, and is a total wreck. It's not so bad now; the mines are mostly swept up. At another place," he says, "we were officially told more than once that the Dardanelles had been taken by the British."

Eyeglasses

To be able to fit eyeglasses to any nose, that will retain this form of spectacleware, and at the same time improve the appearance, is an art, and as such must be learned. And while there are certain general rules to go by, years of practice and a natural ability are necessary to produce outstanding results.

The average optician succeeds in about 50 per cent. of cases. The rest are failures. You meet these failures on the street every day. The public cannot tell when the lenses correct the eye defect, but we can all see how the Glasses fit the face.

FARMERS!

HERE ARE SIX REASONS WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO INSURE YOUR PROPERTY IN

The Wawanesa Mutual Insurance Co.

FIRST—Because it is owned and operated by the Farmers for their mutual benefit, and not to enrich stockholders of a company formed to accumulate wealth at the expense of the insurer or to share its profits with residents of cities, towns, or villages by insuring their property.

SECOND—The cost of insurance is not only very low, but you are not required to pay your premiums in advance unless you prefer doing so, and no interest is charged where premium notes are taken. The agent's fee is all that is required to be paid in cash.

THIRD—The Company is thoroughly reliable and long past the experimental stage, and its policies are better adapted to Farm Insurance than any others issued. The use of steam threshers permitted free of charge.

FOURTH—The cost of adjustment of loss claims are paid by the Company and not by the insured and settlements are always made on an equitable basis.

FIFTH—Insurance on Live Stock covers them against loss by fire anywhere on the farm, and by lightning anywhere in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Insurance on Produce covers same while in building, also Hay and Grain in stack within forty feet thereof. Insurance on Farming Implements, Vehicles, Harness, and Robes, covers anywhere on the farm.

SIXTH—That This is the LARGEST FARMERS' MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IN CANADA, and Must Therefore Be Giving THE BEST SATISFACTION.

N.B.—Members are only liable for the Unpaid Portion of Their Premium Notes.

Alberta Has Raised 15,000 Men

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—While exact figures as to the total number of men recruiting since the beginning of the war up to the present time for expeditionary service are not available, from the department of militia, some detailed figures, giving approximately the total to date and the numbers recruited in each military district and division, have been secured by your correspondent.

Since the last official statement was given out at the end of September, showing a total enlistment of all ranks and all branches of the service on that date to be a little over 160,000 approximately 14,000 men have since been added to the strength. The total of all ranks now under pay is therefore approximately 175,000 men, but of these some 16,000 are enrolled for home duties, such as guarding public edifices, bridges, canals, etc., patrolling the United States frontier, and connected in various ways with the administrative business of the militia department. The straight overseas army totals at the present time about 161,000 men, of whom a little over 100,000 are now either overseas or en route. This leaves about 16,000 in Canada, and about 90,000 men still to be raised before the authorized total of 250,000 for expeditionary service is reached. At the present rate of recruiting it will take nearly seven months to reach the required total.

It may be noticed also that in the totals given above as to the number raised for expeditionary service, no account is taken of the wastage through casualty. The total number of casualties are now approximately 16,000. Of these probably half are either dead, prisoners, or unfit for further service. Canada's real fighting army is therefore at the present time not much more than 150,000 men and officers. The latter number nearly 7,000.

The militia department has not kept a record of the enlistments by provinces, but it has compiled statistics as to the recruiting by military divisions, which correspond roughly to the provincial areas. According to these figures Ontario, which comprises the first, second, and third military districts, has recruited approximately 62,300 men. No. 1 division, Western Ontario, has recruited about 10,000; No. 2, Ontario, about 16,000; and No. 3, Kingston, about 16,300.

The province of Quebec, which comprises the fourth and fifth military divisions, has recruited about 19,300, of which the Montreal division is responsible for more than 15,000.

The Maritime provinces, where recruiting is now considerably brisker than it was previously, have passed the 15,000 mark for the three provinces, which are all included in the sixth military division.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan, which, with the districts of Thunder Bay and Rainy River, in Ontario, comprises military district No. 10, have contributed 28,000 recruits. British Columbia and the Yukon, included in military district No. 11, have enlisted 17,500 men, and Alberta, which is in military district No. 13, has raised about 14,200.

The figures given above are for non-commissioned officers, and men only. To get the approximate totals of all ranks for each province about five per cent. will have to be added to the numbers given above for each province in order to include the officers.

ARE OUR MEN NEEDED?

It is difficult to reconcile the urgent call for men made by the King with the announcement from the Dominion Government that Canada is sending along men as rapidly as the war office asks for them. It is also difficult to reconcile the fact that Australia has already sent 160,000 men to the front, and Canada, much nearer to the seat of war, and with a considerably larger population, has not sent nearly as many men to the front. Surely no one suggests that the British Government is, calling for Australians and is quite indifferent to the coming of Canadians.

Canadians are recruiting quite rapidly. A battalion has been raised in Calgary in remarkably short time, and another will be raised when that is completed in very short time, unless all signs fail. Why, then, does not the imperial government ask for the Canadian troops? That is a question which the Canadian people, unless we are much mistaken, would like to have answered.

"FISH OR CUT BAIT"

The following poem in the Walt Mason style, has been dedicated to those who have not yet subscribed to the various Patriotic Funds, and is eloquent in its simplicity.

"We've had a twelve month now of war, but the end's not yet in sight, and the challenge comes to every man to either pay or fight. It's not the time to hum and haw, or air your hobby whims—it's up to you to see just now that the British Tommy wins. It's not the time to count on gain, or to fatten up your purse, while your brothers fight to rid the world from a war-mad ruler's curse. The man who stays at home just now has got to foot the bill, and it's just as well to do the thing with a cheery British will. The man who leaves his home, his kin, who leaves behind his all, to put the khaki color on and heed his country's call—he's made a sacrifice, that's real, and the man who stays at home has got to bear his burden here without a groan or groan. It's not a day to count the cost or what the tax will be when the empire's fate hangs on the beam in this fight for Liberty. When strong men march away to war, our fathers and our sons, to free a blighted Belgium from the curse wrought by the Hun—we've got to play the part of men—it's not the time to shake—we've got the blood of Wellington, of Nelson, and of Drake. The call's gone forth to every man, alike to small and great—if you can't go with the fishermen you'll have to cut the bait."

HUNS WOULD SAVE UNITED STATES FROM MACHINATIONS OF BRITAIN

Berlin, Nov. 4.—The Neue Nachrichten, of Leipzig, appeals to German diplomacy to save the United States from the blunder of its friendship with England, even if the cost be civil war in the United States. The paper says:

"It is high time that German diplomacy stepped in to put a stop to England's machinations to convert the United States into one of her satellites."

"The German-American has long tolerated with mixed feelings the despicable attitude of his English thinking and feeling fellow citizens in their efforts to rob him of his rights. The idea, however, that his own children should, through England's cunning, be forcibly Anglicized and converted to enemies of his fatherland is more than he can bear."

"To this characteristic England perfidy the German-American longs to put an end. He is, of course, well aware that active opposition on his part will lead, namely, to an anonymous civil war in America, but even that grim prospect will cease to scare him. Should it come, that responsibility will rest solely with the blinded fools who have sold themselves, body and soul, to the English devil."

"Our government should no longer hesitate to take the most drastic steps consistent with the quasi-state of peace between the two countries."

FORMER PREMIER OF CANADA DEAD

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Sir Charles Tupper, venerable statesman, died in England today. He was 94 years old.

The news of the death of Sir Charles came in a telegram from Sir George Perley, Canadian High Commissioner in London, to Sir Robert Borden, the premier.

Sir Charles had been ailing for a long time, and news of his death was not unexpected.

Death occurred at Bexley Heath. The official cablegram reads:

"Sir Charles Tupper died peacefully this morning."

Charles Stuart Tupper, of Winnipeg, son of the late James Stuart Tupper, and grandson of Sir Charles, succeeds to the baronetcy. He is a son-in-law of Dr. Charles Morhe, registrar of the exchequer court of Ottawa, and is about to leave for the front, having a commission in the Cameron Highlanders.

TROOPS COST CANADA $1,000 EACH PER YEAR

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—Canada's war expenditure for next year will be very large. About $1,000 per man per annum is calculated as the cost of raising, equipping, and maintaining the troops at the front and under arms in Canada. This estimate will probably be exceeded on account of the enormous expenditure of ammunition and the heavy strain upon artillery and rifles. Canada's war expenditure next year, on the basis of a force of 250,000 men, will aggregate from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000. The interest charge in connection with this and past war expenditures will amount to over $15,000,000 per year.

Germany Has a Few Peace Views

A careful examination of the German press points to three leading schools of peace-thought. First, there are the journalists which maintain that what has been won by the sword must be held by the sword. There must be no yielding up of Belgium or of the occupied department of France. The French also must be deprived of their African colonies, including Morocco and Algeria. The fortresses on the French side of the frontier must be dismantled. Poland and the Baltic Provinces, whatever their ultimate fate, must not go back to Russia. Turkey, that tried and faithful ally, more beloved in nationalist circles than even Austria, must be rehabilitated at the expense of England, and Austria must be in a position to dominate the entire eastern littoral of the Adriatic, and to command a free course to the Aegean. In addition the enemies of Germany must be compelled to pay such indemnities as will relieve the post-war financial pressure.

Those are the chief peace conditions which the entire Conservative and Agrarian party would impose, and which one sees constantly advocated in such extreme organs of opinion as The Kreuz Zeitung, The Hamburg Nachrichten, and Fremdenblatt, The Post, The Deutsche Tageszeitung, and in the journals of the right wing of the National Liberal party, for example, The Magdeburg Zeitung.

Not so extreme are the majority of the National Liberals, to whom we might add the Clericals, and the right wing of the Radical parties. Their chief representatives in the press are The Kölnische Zeitung, The Kölnische Volkszeitung, The Local Anzeiger, Germania, and The Vossische Zeitung. Their point of view is that in the indiscriminate acquisition of territory lie the seeds of sure future trouble, and that there are ways, notably economic ways, of subjecting Belgium, France, and Russia to the German yoke without the formal annexation of land. If land is to be occupied at all after the peace it should only be as a pledge until indemnities have been paid. Care, of course, must be taken that the frontiers of the Empire shall be for all time secure.

But the principal plank in the peace platform of this school is what they call "The Freedom of the Seas." Only very nebulous views are obtainable as to what is actually meant by this shibboleth, but, at the back of the mind of all writers on the subject the "Freedom of the Seas" is intended to be a deadly blow at England's maritime supremacy, and in so far as this is the intention the "Freedom of the Seas" is an important part of the peace programme of every German, no matter to what political party he may belong. Germans could resign themselves, under certain circumstances, to abandon all their conquered territory; but if this war does not bring the naval and maritime humiliation of England—the enemy par excellence—the struggle will have been in vain.

Finally, we have the Moderates, composed mainly of Socialists and the left wing of the popular parties, and whose wishes are voiced by Vorwärts and the Socialist press, and to a large extent by The Berliner Tageblatt, and The Frankfurter Zeitung. In numbers this peace school is important, but in actual political influence a negligible quantity. They also suffer from the drawback that they are uncertain about their desires, revoking tomorrow what they say today, and seeing between their theories as advanced Liberals and their impulses as ardent German patriots eager for the glory of the Fatherland.

In their schemes for peace territorial annexation has no place, nor would they impose terms on the conquered so outrageous as to offend neutrals and make certain the eternal hostility of the vanquished. But everything short of this—substantial indemnities, "Freedom of the Seas," and diplomatic instruments so carefully worded as to secure the German Empire and Germany's allies an eternal peace.

It is worth nothing that Germany, geographically considered, may also be roughly divided into these extremist and moderate schools. In North and East Germany, the areas where the pure Prussian influence is most felt, we find the most numerous and most determined advocates of conditions of peace calculated to crush for ever the foes of the Fatherland. In the Rhenish Province and Westphalia, and generally throughout the west, we have the bulk of the inhabitants in favor of more moderate counsels. And in the south, in Bavaria, Württemberg, and Baden, there is a large population which would view with disfavor the forcing of peace terms on the vanquished which would practice ally cut off Germany from friendly intercourse with the rest of the civilized world.

ONE OF GERMANY'S SUPER-SUBMARINES CAUGHT

Liverpool, Nov. 3.—The Daily Post publishes a report of the capture of one of Germany's latest super-submarines, 260 feet long, and carrying, in addition to torpedo tubes, four guns of fairly large calibre. The submarine was launched at Stettin a fortnight ago.

The Post states that within a few hours after leaving her base she was caught in one of those "traps" we have so skillfully laid for these craft somewhere in the German ocean.

NO MORE GERMAN TOYS

This year the children of Lacombe will not have German-made toys for their Christmas presents—the Hun article, which they have been used to in years past, having been put off the market. This season the toys all come from Great Britain, Japan, and the United States, and, while of a better class than the Hun made goods, the prices are very little higher. Canadian manufacturers are also putting a very good line of toys on the market, and before many years will be able to supply the demands of the Dominion.

Edmonton, Nov. 4.—Wounded twice, the hero of a dozen engagements, and in the trenches almost continuously for eight months, Trooper George R. Phillips, of the famous Princess Pats, who left Edmonton in August of last year, returned to the city yesterday, and is now staying at his home, 9344 McCauley street. Phillips was formerly employed at the C.P.R. freight office at the Parliament Buildings.

The Pats went to the front shortly before last Christmas, arriving about the same time as the native Indian soldiers, but as the latter were suffering from ague, owing to the unaccustomed cold weather, the Pats were the first to go into the trenches. Trooper Phillips' first wound was in March, at La Bassée, during the well-remembered fight for the capture of Hill 60. He received a bullet wound in the neck, but it was not of a very serious character, and after a stay in Ramsgate hospital for two weeks and a week's leave, to assist in his complete recovery, he joined the Canadians again at Shorncliffe, and went to the front after two weeks' further training.

His next wound was at the battle of Ypres, on August 23, a bullet striking him in the leg, and incapacitating him from further active service. He was taken to the Wolverhampton hospital, and was discharged on October 1st. His leg is still bandaged, and he walks with some difficulty.

At the time Trooper Phillips left the front he says there were only fourteen left of the original contingent, eleven hundred strong, thus affording some indication of the heroic part that the Pats have played in holding the Germans in check, and challenging possession of every inch of ground.

He remembers only three or four of those who left Edmonton some fifteen months ago who are still in active service. Some are sleeping the sleep that knows no waking, a few being only a day in the trenches before their careers were for ever ended; some have returned and become identified with other battalions, and a still larger number have been wounded and discharged as unfit for further service. Scott, formerly in the employ of the E. D. & B. Co., who joined as a private, has been advanced to the position of regimental sergeant-major, and has also received the distinguished service medal. Lieut. Niven, now Captain Niven, about whom so much has been told, is, of course, also there, and two or three others whose names he does not remember.

Trooper Phillips says the scene in Flanders, at the present time beggars description. Beautiful buildings have been razed to the ground by the continuous shell fire, there being hardly four walls standing of any building in the whole of that ravaged territory, while the dead are lying in all directions, it being seldom the German practice to bury their dead.

Of the months of fighting in which he has taken part, Trooper Phillips gives some vivid descriptions, although very little of the information he has to impart is new to the Edmonton public. He took part in the South African campaign, but says the battles in Flanders are vastly different, their fighting more individual fighting. Very frequently the first line trenches of the Germans and the allies have not been more than twenty yards apart, and in battling for the possession of these trenches there was hand-to-hand fighting, often of a very sanguinary description.

Regarding the Ross rifle, Trooper Phillips confirms the reports that have reached Edmonton in regard to it. He says that, although it is a splendid rifle for the ranges, it is much too light for active service, and none of the Canadians would use it if they could get a Lee-Enfield. The Ross, too, has room for only five rounds of ammunition, while the Lee-Enfield has a capacity of twelve—a very important consideration when quick firing is necessary.

Before returning to Canada, Trooper Phillips paid a visit to Shorncliffe and saw the 40th Battalion and the draft of the 60th Battalion. All were in the highest spirits, and at that time were daily expecting orders for the front. The training at Shorncliffe, says Phillips, is of the most systematic and thorough description. The day's programme starts at six o'clock with an hour's physical drill, and the rest of the day is crowded with drill, manoeuvres and musketry practice, often far into the evening. Many night marches are also undertaken. The musketry practice includes training up to one thousand yards, instead of four hundred, as at the Sarcee camp.

Trooper Phillips says the cost of living in Great Britain has increased to a very great extent, but all those who are not available for active service, together with thousands of women, are busily engaged in manufacturing munitions and in other ways. Wages, too, are good, so that there is no hardship.

Phillips travelled as far as Winnipeg with several other returning soldiers. They were accorded magnificent receptions along the route from Montreal, he states. Whenever they wanted to buy anything their money was refused, everybody stating that they could not accept payment from wounded soldiers. At Winnipeg they were met at the train and taken for auto tours through the city and were guests at a smoking concert given in their honor at the Veterans' Club.

PARAPETS AT FESTUBERT BUILT OF ROSS RIFLES

That the parapets at Festubert, the scene of one of the big battles of the war in France, were built up of Ross rifles by the hundred, and that the Ross rifles, instead of being used for firing, were also utilized in making dug-outs, is the statement of an Edmonton soldier, who has been in the firing line in France for over twelve months. His letter, which has just been received in the city, constitutes a striking arraignment of the rifles which have been supplied to the Canadian overseas battalions. The soldier's name, for obvious reasons, cannot be published, but it is in the possession of the Bulletin, and there is no doubt as to the authenticity of the letter.

"You tell me," he writes to his brother, "that some have been claiming that the Ross rifle supplied to the Canadians was all right. Ask those who said so if they were at Ypres, and if the Ross rifle proved so good there. How did we lose so many men at that time? It is easy to see they did not handle one. Our boys flung away the Ross whenever they could pick up an Enfield. The parapets at Festubert are built up of Ross rifles by the hundred, and we have also used them for making dug-outs. I have seen this, and seeing it believing. The least bit of damp, and they jam on you. At Ypres mine jammed, and I had to take my heel to the bolt while the Germans were charging in front of me. All the Canadians have now got the Lee-Enfield. The Ross is a good rifle for the targets, but it is no good for the rough work we have here."

BRIGHTER REPORT FROM THE BALKANS

New York, Oct. 31.—The London correspondent of the New York Herald cabled yesterday:

"General Joffre came, saw, and conquered. England yesterday, for while a long war council in Downing Street, in which Mr. Asquith, Lord Balfour, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Balfour, and several distinguished English and French generals took part, I am informed a complete understanding was arrived at. I am in a position to state that Serbia will not be abandoned. Though she may suffer temporarily as the result of the treachery of Bulgaria and the inactive policy of the King of the Hellenes, in the end the Allies will rescue her."

"In this connection I am told there has been an effective rapprochement between Russia and Roumania; that the Czar having agreed to consent to a realization of Roumania's national aspirations, including the cession of certain portions of Bessarabia, Russian troops will march through Roumanian territory to succor Serbia, and that within a short time King Ferdinand's fine army will support the quadruple entente."

"Athens despatches indicate that King Constantine realizes the tide is turning towards the Allies, and again it would be no surprise if, despite the threats of the Kaiser, when Roumania marches Greece will also be found fighting on the side of the Allies."

GERMAN PAPER FEARS DEFEAT

Geneva, Nov. 4.—Owing to the high prices of food in Germany, neutrals are leaving that country for Switzerland. Under the heading, "Can We Hold Out?" the Neue Zeitung, of Strassburg, says: "Hardly had we crossed the threshold of the second year of the war when the question of bread settled, another anxiety faces us, namely, the dearth of the first necessities in the matter of food. Will our enemies succeed in defeating Germany by famine?"

Executive clemency for a convicted murderer is not to be lightly invoked if human life is to be given the security to which it is entitled and which the law is intended to afford. But the case of the Wetaskiwin woman now under sentence of death for shooting the woman who had invaded her home and usurped her place in the affections of her husband is one in which executive clemency is due if it ever was due in any case. Aside from killing the intruder this unfortunate wife had no recourse in honor but to leave the home she had helped make and go out into the world to fend for herself. On its merits the course of the woman would call for the intervention of the pardoning power. But when it is recalled that only a month ago a man killed another under similar, but less extreme, provocation was acquitted, the withholding of clemency in her case would be inexcusable. That would simply be establishing the rule that a woman may properly be hanged for doing what a man is held blameless for doing.

Sheriff's Bailiff Victim of Murder

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—Word received at the Mounted Police headquarters in the city yesterday, brought the information that the man murdered at Fort McMurray on Thursday was H. J. McCulloch, the sheriff's bailiff at that place.

From the meagre information that reached here yesterday it was discovered that the crime is one of the most dastardly and cold-blooded that has ever been perpetrated in the history of the province. After the man was murdered the shack was set on fire and burned to the ground, and all that remained of the body was a heap of charred bones. The murder took place on Thursday, the 28th, and it was a day before the police got word of it, with the result that the culprit has a whole day's start in his dash away from the scene of the tragedy.

The deceased and Otto Bushmer, the suspected perpetrator of the crime, were known to have had a quarrel in the summer, and it is supposed that the murder was the outcome of the trouble between the men.

McCulloch has been a resident of Fort McMurray for the past four years, and little is known regarding him in the city. He got his homestead on the occasion of the recent visit of A. Nonquay, Dominion lands agent at Edmonton. He was appointed to the position about eight months ago.

The Japanese government has requested the American government to give its support in the representations which are being made at Peking for the purpose of postponing re-establishment of a monarchy in China until the European war is ended. There is much interest here in the attitude of German diplomats in Peking in regard to the form of China's government.

ADVERTISE

There was an old geezer,
And he had a lot of sense.
He started up a business
On a dollar eighty cents.
The dollar for stock,
And eighty for an ad.
Brought him three lovely dollars
In a day, by dad!
Well, he bought more goods
And a little more space,
And he played that system
With a smile upon his face.

The customers flocked
To his two by four
And soon he had to hustle
For a regular store.
Up on the square,
Where the people pass,
He got up a corner
That was all plate glass.
He fixed up the windows
With the best he had,
And told them all about it
In a half page ad.

He soon had 'em coming
And he never, never quit.
And he wouldn't cut down
On his ads, one bit.
And he's kept things humming
In the town ever since,
And everybody calls him
The Merchant Prince.

Some say it's luck,
But that's all bunk—
Why, he was doing business
When the times were punk.
People have to purchase and the geezer was wise—
For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

Thomas Addis and Ralph K. Blair, both of San Francisco, convicted of violating the neutrality of the United States by conspiring to hire and retain men in this country for the British army, were fined $1,000 each in the United States district court today. No prison sentence was imposed.

Germany has asked the American commission for relief in Belgium to undertake in Poland relief measures similar to those taken in Belgium. Officials of the state department have been informed that the commission has been told that between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 of people in that part of Poland occupied by German troops are destitute.

THE VILLAGE OF GULL LAKE

Lacombe, Alberta,
October 19th, 1915.
In the Matter of the Court of Confirmation of the Tax Enforcement Return of the Village of Gull Lake, in the Province of Alberta.

TAKE NOTICE that His Honor Judge Lees, Judge of the District Court of the District of Red Deer, by order of date 11th October, 1915, has appointed Monday, the Twentieth day of December, 1915, at seven (7) o'clock in the afternoon, in the Town Hall, in the Town of Lacombe, in the Province of Alberta, as the time and place for the holding of the Court of Confirmation to confirm the Tax Enforcement Return of the Village of Gull Lake, for arrears of taxes due to said village, to 31st July, 1915.

MRS. GALT WILL "OBEY"

Much Discussed Word in Wedding Service Not to Be Omitted

Washington, Oct. 30.—President Wilson will wed Mrs. Galt in accordance with the ritual of the Episcopal Church, of which she is a member. Like most bridesmaids, she will waive her choice of preferences in favor of those of the bride on his wedding day. The much-discussed word "obey," which many brides object to, will not be omitted from the service.

Miss Margaret Wilson's public reference to Cleveland in reminiscences of days when the president and his family were "frightfully poor," is regarded here as supplying a good beginning to anyone who cares to write an account of the remarkable adventures of Woodrow Wilson and the (political) fairies. The president, it is supposed, must believe in "fairies—political, of course—for they have brought him wealth and power in profusion."

It was not so many years ago that Mrs. Wilson was a college professor struggling to make both ends meet. In those days, pictured so convincingly by Miss Wilson, the professor sang tenor solos to the accompaniment of a melodeon, because the family "couldn't afford a piano." Now, the president, who is reported to have waxed lyrical since falling in love with Mrs. Galt, may enjoy the accompaniment of the great gilt state piano in the east room of the White House, or the strains of the Marine band concealed behind palms.

Now Mr. Wilson has a salary of $75,000 a year and an allowance of $25,000 for travelling expenses. He has spent only a fraction of the amount paid out by his immediate predecessors in official and unofficial entertaining. It is estimated that the president is enabled to save at least $50,000 of his salary, each year.

At the close of his term of office in 1917 the former poor college professor will be rated as the possessor of at least $200,000. Mrs. Galt, whom he will soon marry, has a fortune estimated at $300,000. If the president should be re-elected, he and his wife would retire from official life in 1921 with a combined fortune of nearly a million.

HUNS STRIP RUSSIAN PEOPLE OF ALL CLOTHING AND BOOTS

Petrograd, Oct. 31.—The following official statement was given out by the Russian war office last night:
"There is nothing important to report on the whole front from the Gulf of Riga to the Pripiet."
"There were some operations by our light and heavy artillery in the districts of Jacobstadt and Dvinsk and against the village of Wirvianzy west of Lake Obol."

An attempt by the Germans to advance on the left bank of the Dvina, northeast of Jacobstadt, was easily repulsed. The Germans are stripping the population of clothing and boots, which they are sending to Vilna.

JOFFRE CONFERS WITH KITCHENER

London, Oct. 29.—Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, came to London today. He went to the war office on his arrival. Shortly afterwards he and Earl Kitchener, the war secretary, left together in an automobile.

Spruceville News

"The snow, the snow." Now, ye mighty hunters, is your chance; don't neglect it. What about those moose that were seen?

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Southward had their baby christened on Sunday last. Jean Musgrove, we believe, is the name.

There will be a dance in the U. F. A. Hall on Friday, Nov. 19. Everybody come; a good time is expected.

A. D. Swanson has nearly completed his house. A little paint would improve appearances greatly.

The Young Bros. are busy laying the foundation for their new barn. They expect to finish the superstructure in about two weeks time.

J. J. Kusala was out deer hunting on Tuesday of this week. We have not heard of his luck.

Threshing machines were again heard in the neighborhood. R. Boston, Terry Bros., and Capt. Evans have had their jobs finished in the last few days.

Gull Lake News

Mrs. Veckind, Mrs. Osgoode, and Mrs. Weise, visited Mr. H. Hansen last Thursday.

There was a fair attendance out to the Temperance Concert on Saturday evening. Miss E. King and Miss F. Rowland are to be complimented for their exertions in arranging the programme. Miss E. King is leaving soon to teach at the Academy in Lacombe.

Miss Edna Hutchison left on Monday to be away indefinitely in Lacombe.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Beddoes, Mr. and Mrs. Kabecky, Mr. S. H. Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. Cox, and Lee Siler, were entertained to a right royal feast at Mrs. Hansen's on Sunday. The Swan's meat in England being reserved for the Royal Family.

All those anticipating going for deer were glad to see the snow on Tuesday morning. A few of the boys have already gone west.

Rainy Creek Items

Earl Stephenson and family, who have been residing on the J. H. Steele farm, moved 1 a week to his mother's farm north of Bentley.

Miss Grace Thompson, who has been visiting her sister Annie and other friends in Red Deer for the past two weeks, returned home on Saturday.

Kenneth Dane left last week for Lacombe to enter the High School.

Mrs. S. M. Burger has been on the sick list the past two weeks. She accidentally scalded her arm very badly, but it is now reported better.

Andrew Bigam and C. H. Peterson delivered a car-load of oats at Sylvan Lake last week.

J. H. Stone is loading a car-load of wheat at Sylvan Lake for shipment to Winnipeg.

J. H. Steele is drilling a well on the Geo. Farmer place. We understand this farm has been sold to a gentleman from the States, who will stock it with sheep.

Bentley News

A little snow fell on Monday afternoon, the first touch of winter.

The cold weather has stopped the plowing, but a great part of it is done, not as much as should be.

Many of the residents of this place have secured their guns, ammunition, grub-stake, and hunting licenses, and started for the tall timber. If all of our friends are lucky, and remember us, we will be feasting on venison for the next month.

This hunting season may be an aid to recruiting, as, after bagging a deer or two, the hunter may want to try his luck at a German.

Will Lehman, who all remember as an old Bentley boy, is preparing to move back onto his farm, near Lockhart. Will has spent most of the last three or four years in Lethbridge.

Mrs. Ethel Sambrooke spent several days among friends here during the past week.

Letters have been received the past week, by his many friends, from J. W. Grant, former teacher at this place, but now a recruit of the University Corps, stationed at Montreal. He says that they are some busy with their training, and expect to leave for England shortly.

The skating rink is progressing favorably, and the making of ice will probably start before the end of the week.

C. F. Damron is preparing to ship another two cars of cattle tomorrow.

A movie outfit is expected to be opening in Bentley soon, showing once a week, for the winter.

A meeting of the Councilors of Local Improvement District No. 400, will be held in Bentley on Saturday, Nov. 13.

THE JOY OF BEING ALIVE AND WELL

Restored To Health By "Fruit-a-Lives"
The Famous Fruit Medicines

MDE. ROCHON
Rochon, P.Q. March 2nd, 1915.
"I have received the most wonderful benefit from taking 'Fruit-a-Lives'. I suffered for years from Rheumatism and change of life, and I took every remedy obtainable, without any good results. I heard of 'Fruit-a-Lives' and gave it a trial and it was the only medicine that really did me good. Now I am entirely well; the Rheumatism has disappeared and the terrible pains in my body are all gone. I am exceedingly grateful to 'Fruit-a-Lives' for such relief, and I hope that others who suffer from such distressing diseases will try 'Fruit-a-Lives' and get well."

MADAME ISABEL ROCHON.
The marvellous work that 'Fruit-a-Lives' is doing in overcoming disease and healing the sick, is winning the admiration of thousands and thousands. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

The Local Improvement Association is now making a good show, the skating rink being leveled and ready for the making of ice. The Club Room is being put in order, and will shortly be ready for use. The next business meeting of the Association will be on Wednesday evening next, Nov. the 7th, at 8 p.m., in the Club Room. Keep Friday evening, Nov. 19th, free, as we are to have a lecture by F. W. Thorp on the story of Jean Val Jean, as taken from Victor Hugo's famous novel, Les Misérables. See bills for full particulars. Tickets 25c. Receipts to go to the fund of the Association.

BULGAR PREMIER THREATENS GREECE

Paris, Nov. 9.—The Temps prints a dispatch from Saloniki in which Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, is quoted by the Sofia correspondent of the Pesti Hirlap of Budapest, Hungary, as declaring: "The Grecian government now has been warned that it cannot hold the Bulgarian government responsible for the consequences of its future attitude." The notification, the correspondent declares, followed representation made by the premier to M. Naoum, Greek minister to Bulgaria.

Premier Radoslavoff, the correspondent declares, says the facilities accorded for the disembarkation of allied troops at Saloniki is incompatible with Greek neutrality, and has informed Minister Naoum to this effect.

PRO-GERMANS WORK HARD TO WIN GREECE

London, Nov. 9.—The Morning Post today publishes a letter from a "well-informed correspondent," in Athens, calling attention to the recent success of the Greek pro-German party, "thanks to the power of the political influence radiating from the Queen's entourage." The correspondent says that already 11 of the 16 Athens daily newspapers have been won over by the German interests, plus at least half of the provincial newspapers.

"The propaganda," the correspondent adds, "thus has succeeded in pressing a large section of public opinion, not in favor of Germany nor the entente powers, but primarily against the idea of Greek going to war." The propagandists have skillfully played on the natural wish of every parent that their sons may be spared the danger of getting killed, as well as the losses to private business and personal interests, through mobilization and the prospects of war.

"With this accomplished, the propagandists have now opened a new campaign in the army in favor of Germany with the unmistakable aim of preparing the way for sudden co-operation of the Greek army with the victorious invaders of Serbia."

LICENSES FOR FIVE HOTELS SUSPENDED IN EDMONTON

The Attorney-General's department suspended five licenses in Edmonton yesterday (Tuesday) for infractions of the liquor act, in serving liquor to intoxicated men, soldiers, and others. The hotels to fall under the ban are Richelieu, Castle, Leland, Brunswick, and Jasper.

The Empire hotel, whose license was suspended some few weeks ago, was restored to good standing last night at 7 p.m.

WOULD LEAD BIG DRIVE TO BERLIN

Toronto, Nov. 9.—At a recruiting meeting held tonight under the auspices of the Empire Club, General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, announced in the course of his speech dealing with the war that he proposed to take an active part at the front, and that when the big drive for German territory started, he intended, so far as his present plans are, to lead the Canadians on their march to Berlin, which would start sooner than was at present dreamed of.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and it is expected will have a big effect in stimulating recruiting in this city and throughout Ontario.

I have 250 sheep for sale. If you have any notion of starting in sheep it will pay you to see them. A. Gilmour. (O. 27-tic)

WILD RUMORS ABOUT KITCHENER'S MOVES

London, Nov. 8.—The wildest rumors are circulated here concerning Lord Kitchener's movements. Reports that he is replacing Sir John French have not received credence. Some maintained that a general staff of the allied armies was to be formed at Paris, with Lord Kitchener as the British representative, but the morning papers published this morning a positive statement that Lord Kitchener has been entrusted with an important mission in the near east, and has already left London.

This announcement is highly probable, fitting as it does, with General Joffre's visit to London and the French generalissimo's urgent insistence upon our throwing heavy forces immediately upon the Balkan peninsula and waging war there with great strength. It is not unlikely that Kitchener may pause upon his way in Italy and state the urgency of a despatch of a strong Italian contingent through Albania.

STATES TO MAKE PROTEST

Washington, Nov. 8.—Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, has been instructed to protest to the German government against detention of the American sailing ship Pass of Baltimore, which, after being seized by a British warship, was captured with the prize crew aboard by a German submarine.

Germany recently ordered the vessel held for prize court proceedings, at Hamburg on the ground that her transfer from Canadian to American registry, after the war began, was illegal.

The Pass of Baltimore carried a cargo of cotton for Archangel, Russia. But for the question of registry, Germany, under the Prussian-American treaty of 1928 would be obliged to release the vessel even though she had been carrying contraband when taken from the prize crew. The German government, however, does not recognize transfer of flags by belligerent merchantmen during hostilities, and holds the ship still Canadian.

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

In a little churchyard back of the line
Yet one more to rest we've laid,
And soon another widow will grieve
For one who the price has paid.

The price of freedom for those you love,
His duty to them and you,
His duty to King and God above
Has been done, then what about you?

Aren't you coming to help fill up the space
He's left in the long, long line;
To do your bit and take his place
In the struggle to reach the Rhine?

Or, do you say: "If the country needs me, I'll go."
Me, let it call. Thou Cain,
It calls as every hour speeds
With the new-spilled blood of its slain.

Ask of yourself—and clench your fist;
Ask—and go, get you a gun,
Would you like to see your sister kissed?
By a dirty drunken Hun?

Would you like, tomorrow, to see your home
Burning 'mid many more?
Would you like to see your mother roam
Homeless, forlorn, heartsore?

It's happened already, too often, alas!
And if all were the same as you,
'T would have happened in England.

But, let that pass,
Say, what are you going to do?

B. C. Ranch Land
For Cattle, Sheep and Horses

We have 1,000 Acres, which we will cut up into small tracts of 20 Acres or more.

This land is all irrigated, and you can have your choice of Cleared Land or Uncleared Land. It will grow six tons of Alfalfa in the season, and Clover and Timothy in proportion; also all kinds of Vegetables. Twenty acres of Alfalfa will yield 100 tons in the season.

There is range adjoining ample for 25,000 head of stock.

This land adjoins a Townsite on the Kootenay Central R.R., in the Windermere and Columbia Valley. A nice lake and the Kootenay River adjoins it also. There is also a School-House on the land.

We will sell in any quantity at $35.00 per acre, and the purchaser has the use of the Irrigation Ditch.

DE MAUPASSANT
ON WAR

One man who diagnosed war as it was, and was not afraid to express his mind was Guy de Maupassant, the brilliant, eccentric French writer of the last generation.

De Maupassant marvelled that people did not rise in rebellion against their government at the word "war." He quoted "a clever artist in such matters, a slaughtering genius, M. de Molke," note that the name is that of a great German general, Gallicised—as replying thus to an address by some peace delegates: "War is holy and of divine institutions; it is one of the sacred laws of nature; it keeps alive in men all the great and noble sentiments, honor, disinterestedness, virtue, courage; in one word it prevents them from falling into the most hideous materialism."

Here we have the Germanic doctrine of 1870, which 46 years does not seem to have changed. Let us read De Maupassant's answer to it.

"To collect a herd of some 500,000 men, march day and night without respite, to think of nothing, learn, read nothing, be of no earthly use to anyone, rot with dirt, lie down in mire, live like brutes in a continual besotment, pillage towns, burn villages, ruin nations; then meeting another agglomeration of human flesh, rush upon it, shed lakes of blood, cover plains with pounded flesh, mingled with muddy and bloody earth; pile up heaps of slain; have arms and legs blown off, brains scattered without benefit to anyone, and perish at the corner of some field while your old parents, your wife and children are dying of hunger; that is what is called not falling into the most hideous materialism!"

A NEUTRAL OPINION

(New York Times)

In the great tribunal of civilization the Germans have done themselves immeasurable hurt by their savagery against those who opposed them. Putting the interests of state above the interests and the rights of the individual, putting the ends Germany seeks to attain above all other things on earth, destroying the peace of the world, bringing on the bloodiest war in history, a war that has brought to their deaths millions of the people of Europe and threatens to impoverish great nations, all for the attainment of ends the world has denounced in themselves, and by means which too often have violated the foundation principles of humanity and justice. Germany has brought herself into a position where the world turns from her in horror and dreads nothing so much as the success of her arms. She has instilled so deeply in the minds of her people the idea of power, of supreme military power, that she has deadened them to the finer and nobler feelings of humanity. Man's love of life, the chivalric sentiment of man for woman, tender consideration for the helplessness of age and youth, all these she has maimed and bruised and effaced with her mailed fist, all these she has trampled under foot. The executioners of EDITH CAVELL, but carried out the spirit and purpose of the Imperial military policy. They did their part in the working of the brutal, monstrous engine. It is because of this spirit, of these purposes, of such deeds as that at Brussels that Germany has lost her standing among civilized nations devoted to the ideals of humanity and of progress. It is because of these things that the prayer goes up in all the peaceful countries of the earth that her enemies may triumph, to the end that such a ruthless rule may not be established upon the earth.

THE SACRIFICES OF MOTHERS

(The Ottawa Journal)

Thousands of mothers in all parts of the empire are sorrowing for the loss of one or more sons, whose vacant chairs in the home cannot be filled. The unselfishness and devotion of any mother who gives even one son is unselfishness of as high a quality as humanity can show. But in some instances the sacrifice has been of more than one, and the hardship correspondingly greater. The following is an extract from a private letter received in Ottawa from our far West, names being withheld:

"Up in this far north we have one case where a mother with her daughter of 14 years travelled 1,800 miles overland, and by canoe, to see the last of her four sons, who was among a draft the 44th regiment, from Saskatchewan. She had only a few minutes to speak with him. He was 17 years of age, but was bound to go and seek redress for the loss of the other three brothers, who had gone with the first contingent and were killed during the severe fighting in France, one being awarded a V.C., which was forwarded from the Horse Guards to her as the next of kin, and this was awaiting her at Saskatoon. She takes this back to the far north as the only memento of her four sturdy Scotch sons; and in her little shack at Isle a la Crosse will she lead a lonely life with the girl of 14 and the decoration from her king to her eldest boy for valor, and a small pension of ten pounds per annum which it carries with it."

To correspond with the above, let us quote the following from a recent issue of the London Times:—

"In a speech at a recruiting meeting at Reading, Lieutenant-General Sir E. Bethune told of an old Cornish lady who had six sons serving in the army, five of whom had been killed. She wrote to General Bethune: 'Do give me back the sixth.' In his reply he pointed out the need of every man at the present time, and she promptly replied: 'Please keep him, then.'"

DUKE WILL NOT GO TO BRITAIN

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—A report has been in circulation that on account of the illness of the king, the Duke of Connaught would return to England.

The report, however, is denied by the duke's secretary. Some time ago, it was suggested in the English press that the duke's return to England would be advisable to take command of the home forces.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO DEAL MORE STRICTLY WITH ARMY DESERTERS

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—A resolution has been passed by the executive committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, recommending that the government take more drastic action in respect to the punishment of deserters, and that the officers commanding regiments and units now being mobilized be held responsible for the accuracy of casualties returns.

The national executive further passed a resolution, advising all branches throughout Canada to refuse to render assistance to the dependents of soldiers when they should learn that these men had previously belonged to a regiment from which they had deserted, or had been dismissed for cause other than unavoidable illness.

VALOR OF CANADIANS
IMPRESSES PONTIFF

London, Nov. 5.—Monsieur Burke, major and chaplain of the Canadian forces, now visiting in London, returns to Flanders on Saturday. He tells your representative that during his recent visit to Rome he was received by the Pope, who, while not expressing any view in favor of either group of belligerents, said he had read with the sincerest admiration of the chivalrous way in which the Canadians had fought in Flanders.

Lieutenant H. A. Pratt, Pierce, Winnipeg, 27th battalion, is now visiting in London after his discharge from the hospital at Lincoln, where he was sent suffering from slight gunshot wounds in the arm and back.

THIS WOULD ASSIST IN RECRUITING WORK

London, Nov. 4.—The suggestion was made in the house of commons today by Sir Alfred Mond that legislation be enacted to suspend during the war payment of rent, insurance premiums, interest on mortgages and similar obligations of men who join the army. Sir Alfred, whose suggestion was recognized with favor, said that these charges were like millstones around the necks of many men who, except for them, would be glad to enlist.

Premier Asquith said the government fully recognized the importance of the problem and promised to consider the suggestion carefully.

WAR MINISTER VERY CONFIDENT OF THE FUTURE

Petrograd, Nov. 5.—It is now five months since the Austro-Germans, having assembled enormous forces and very powerful artillery, commenced their offensive operations on the eastern front, hoping to envelop and destroy the Russian army before the coming of winter.

In spite of numerous artillery, the employment of large forces and the innumerable losses suffered by them, the Austro-Germans during five months have not succeeded in installing themselves on the line of the Dvina, and at present have not a chance of attacking either Dvinsk or Riga by the fire of their heavy artillery. Gallantly concentrating their efforts on their ultimate object, the Russian troops are now provoking the enemy more than ever toward the exhaustion of his forces.

HUNS SENDING AIRSHIPS
AFTER MERCHANTMEN

London, Nov. 5.—Germany seems to be trying a new method of attack on British merchantmen with aeroplanes. The Cork steamer Avocet, which has arrived at Manchester, tells a story, according to the Liverpool Journal of Commerce, of a 36 minutes' engagement with three hostile aeroplanes at 11 o'clock in the morning of October 30. One of the aeroplanes was a large battle plane, which dropped 36 bombs, some of which missed the steamer by not more than seven feet. When the bombs were exhausted the battle plane fired on the Avocet with a machine gun. The ship's sides and decks were struck by bullets, but all the crew escaped injury.

The steamer's escape was due to zig-zag manoeuvres and the fact that the aeroplanes dared not fly lower.

WOMEN SERVE IN SERBIAN
ARMY BY THOUSANDS

London, Nov. 4.—"These were nearly 2,000 women in Serbia's army when I left and more women soldiers were being organized," said Dr. Gruitch, a Serbian army doctor, in London today.

"The women are not in special battalions. Some of them wear complete uniform of the soldier for the sake of comfort, while others wear skirts with a blue tunic. The younger women go with their brothers or their husbands. The women are of every class of the population, and we cannot prevent them from serving. They inspire the men with whom they march side by side, and with whom they eat and serve shoulder to shoulder in the trenches."

"These women are not afraid. Nobody in Serbia is afraid, and the women in the ranks do not lose their nerve under fire."

"We realize the great power of our friends in the war. Every soldier feels that we are only a part of a world army, and if it is necessary that our army shall be lost—well, it is only a part. There is time yet to save Serbia if fighting will do it," said Dr. Gruitch, in conclusion.

SCORES STINGINESS OF WEALTHY PEOPLE

"What rich man in Calgary would hold his left arm up to be shot off for $10,000," asked R. B. Bennett, K.C., M.P., at the newsboys' concert held in Calgary on Thursday evening of last week in aid of the Patriotic Fund, "but if one were to ask a rich man for $10,000 for the dependents of those who have gone to the front," continued the speaker, "he would say you were crazy."

This is what R. B. Bennett hurled at the heads of some of Calgary's citizens who measure their wealth by their hundreds of thousands of dollars, and in the course of a short, but inspiring address he bitterly scored the lack of support of some of the wealthy people to the fund.

He drew a fine picture of the splendid men from Calgary and the rest of Alberta that he saw in the old country, and at the front. These men, he said, were ready not only to hold up their arm in the Empire's cause, but to lay down their lives for it, and he again impressed upon the citizens of Calgary that this war was as real to them as if the trenches were just outside the city. "If we fail in this great effort to crush military autocracy," said Mr. Bennett, "then our liberty and freedom forever will be destroyed."

Referring to the efforts of the newsboys, the speaker said they had shown a most commendable spirit and had proven that their hearts were in the right place. He gave the boys a heart-to-heart talk. "Courtesy," he said, "was one of the greatest assets in life." He counselled them to abjure from swearing, to be courteous, and to tell the truth, and, as an example, he referred to Mayor Costello, who was himself once a newsboy, a reference which was greeted with loud applause.

Mayor Costello occupied the chair.

GRENELL TO GO TO EUROPEAN FRONT

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 5.—Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenell, the pastor of Labrador, who is here attending the medical missionary conference, announced today that he will soon leave with the Harvard units of Red Cross workers for active service in France. Dr. Grenell will spend his missionary furlough working in some French or British hospital. He spoke here today on his work in Labrador.

radior to a large audience of mission workers from all over the world.

STRATHCONA HORSE
ACTING AS FLYING
COLUMN IN FRANCE

London, Nov. 4.—A western Canadian, serving in the Strathcona's Horse, says: "There was some talk of our brigade being made into a flying column. We are certainly doing the flying column act to perfection. We are now moving about freely, touring this part of the continent in excellent style. Yesterday we went out on a working party and dug trenches all day. Happily we are rid for the moment of rats and mice. It is not pleasant to be awakened up at night by rats and mice running all over you."

"Just where we are on the Canadian lines there was a lot of shelling going on Wednesday. We had a splendid spectacle of aeroplanes under shell fire. One of our machines seemed inevitably about to be overwhelmed. The Germans fired 16 shots, all seemingly at the same moment. One aeroplane appeared right in the middle of the fusillade, but came through unharmed. We have also had trench incidents. One day recently two of our fellows were hit when between our own and the German trenches. One got back, but the other, Blake, of 'B' Squadron, was missing."

"Four different men went out for him; two got hit. The night before last, however, another search party found the body of Blake. He was badly hit. He had managed to crawl away from the spot where he fell. When the body was found it appeared he had taken off his coat and shirt, cut the sleeves up and dressed his own wounds. His body was only 40 yards from the German trenches. One German at least paid the price that night, for two men of 'B' Squadron, who were on the lookout at the time, saw through the periscope a German standing up, to throw a bomb at the wounded man. He told his Canadian mate, who had his rifle ready, and Mr. German was shot dead. The bombing of wounded whenever they get a chance is a favorite amusement of the Germans."

A wounded Winnipegger, a captain in the 27th battalion, now in a London hospital, pays special tribute to the excellence of the hospital arrangements. He says: "From the time I was hit until I reached the hospital in London the kindly attention I received on all hands made the greatest impression on me. The organization seems perfect, and the nurses are wonderful. I cannot say too much in admiration of the way in which our boys are brought in."

WILSON OUTLINES MILITARY SCHEME

New York, Nov. 5.—President Wilson opened the administration campaign for its national defence programme by a comprehensive address here, yesterday, at the Manhattan Club banquet. He declared solemnly that while the United States had no aggressive purposes, it must be prepared to defend itself to assume "full liberty and self-development." Significantly he said that "with ourselves in this great matter we associate all the peoples of our own hemisphere," adding that we wish not only for the United States but for them the fullest freedom of independent growth of action.

The president said in part:—"Our plan calls for only such an increase in the regular army of the United States as experience has proved to be required. For the rest, it calls for the training within the next three years of a force of 400,000 citizen soldiers to be raised in annual contingents of 133,000, who would be asked to enlist for three years with the colors, three years on furlough, but who during their three years of enlistment with the colors would not be organized as a standing force, but would be expected merely to undergo intensive training for a very brief period of each year."

"The only thing within our borders that has given as grave concern in recent months has been that voices have been raised professing to be the voices of Americans, but which came from alien enemies. These voices have not been many, but they have been very loud and very clamorous. These men who speak alien sympathies are not their spokesmen, but are the spokesmen of small groups whom it is high time that the nation should call to a reckoning. The chief thing necessary in America in order that she show all the world that she is prepared to maintain her own great position, is that the real voice of the nation should sound forth."

Mr. Kirk, Missionary at Blackfalds, will conduct the service in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning, and the Rev. Dr. Shearer, Toronto, will conduct the evening service.

Wittenburg News

Many of our neighbors will think Wittenburg has vanished from the map. Our appointed correspondent was last seen doing road work, and we are afraid same has been too much for him to report the news of our burg, but in the future we will again see the news of Wittenburg.

Mrs. Simmons has rented her farm to Mr. Leo. Benson, and is moving North to her son's farm. We hear the Simmons boys have caught the Peace River fever, and intend to make that their future home, but we think they will find our valley hard to beat.

Mr. Bett lost his pure-bred Percheron horse last week. E. Lee and son are enlarging their store, as it has become too small for the growing business of Wittenburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cumberland have arrived back in our valley, but after many travels they think there is no place like Wittenburg.

Some ditching has been done on the township line, which is a great improvement to same. Let us hope that the Councilor will pay more attention to this main line to Wittenburg, or we shall be forced to call a meeting to get a supply of airships to travel this line.

Our district has harvested the largest crop ever known. Threshing is now in full swing. Messrs. Bett, Cumming, and Simons, are all headed this way to thresh this mammoth crop. Wittenburg is in a valley that never has a crop failure.

A dance will be held in Lee's Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 17, in aid of the Red Cross Fund. Good music has been secured. Everybody come and help along this good cause.

Mr. Bell, late of Stettler, and Mr. Chatburn and family, late of Iowa, have arrived here. Both these men declare this valley the best country they ever struck, which speaks highly for our burg. Mrs. A. E. Archer and Mrs. Clifford left for the west, where they intend to spend the winter.

Miss Andrews, who has been a relief operator in the Lacombe telephone office for the past six weeks, arrived back last week, and intends to stay until Christmas.

Mrs. Thomas J. West returned on Thursday from a month's visit to Mrs. J. A. Jackson in Letha bridge.

Good progress is being made with the laying of sidewalks, and many of our citizens are ready to rise up and bless the town council for making their way more easy.

A Young People's Society has been organized in connection with the Methodist Church, the officers being:—Hon. President, Rev. Mr. Wilkin; President, A. J. Black; First Vice-President, Mrs. J. Bramhill; Second Vice-President, Miss Ivy Steele; Third Vice-President, Miss B. McNish; Fourth Vice-President, De Forest Nelson; Secretary, Miss L. B. Hambly; Treasurer, Miss R. McNish; Organist, Miss Ethel Steele.

T. H. Draycott is the latest of our young men to join the Canadian forces, having enlisted in the 66th battalion, which is being formed in Edmonton.

E. L. McMillan has again suffered loss through fire, his barn and hay having been consumed, a few days ago. There is no telling how the fire originated, and there being no time to save any of the contents, the loss will amount to about $100.

A meeting of the Patriotic Fund executive was held in the council chamber on Thursday evening. The attendance was good, and a good deal of business was transacted. The returns from the subscription lists were considered highly satisfactory, and lists were given out to members who will canvass the Ponoka school district.

FOR SALE

One 3-Roller Fleury & Sons No. 4 Grinder; cost $90.00 new.—Wm. G. Sage, Bailiff, Star Livery Barn. (N. 10-3tc)

Lochinvar News

The ratepayers of District 430, Div. 1, in 42-28-4, are taking advantage of the nice fall weather and mending the roads in the township. They are getting a nice lot of road-work done.

Threshing and ploughing, the principal part of the farmers' fall work, are about all finished up in this district.

Mr. E. C. Uhlman has moved to the Nicaise Place, of which he has taken a three years' lease. Mr. Uhlman is a wide-awake and enterprising farmer, and we wish him the best of success.

The many friends of Mrs. J. I. Frizzell will be pleased to hear that she is now able to come home, after undergoing a serious operation in the Lacombe Hospital. Mrs. Frizzell is loud in her praise of the staff of the hospital, and the Lacombe doctors. Mrs. Frizzell says she did not know how many or what good friends she had until they came to visit her and sympathize and help her in her illness.

The sale of farm implements and stock held on the farm of Ignace Nicaise, on the 27th ult., was a great success. Mr. Nicaise sold without reserve all his goods and chattels, but held on to his good farm, and intends to be in the farming business again in two or three years. We are sorry to see him leave, but are comforted by the thought that we will have him with us again in the not distant future.

We understand that R. J. Maushy has purchased the Jas. McFetridge farm. Mr. Maushy bids fair to become the king farmer of this district. Good luck to him.

Arbordale News

E. H. Madden is slowly recovering from the blood-poisoning trouble.

John Flewelling, of Consort, is visiting friends and relatives in Arbordale. He also intends buying a car of horses. He was the former owner of the Aldwinckle Ranch, but sold it and invested in the east country, where he has made good.

Ernest Hunt has enlisted in the service of the Empire, and went to Edmonton last Saturday evening.

Captain Evans and E. Butcher motored to the J. J. Richards True-Breed Sheep Ranch, where the Captain bought some fine specimens of the Shropshire breed.

Captain Gaiskell, who recently returned from Shorncliffe, England, spent a few days in Arbordale with his family. He returned to Calgary last Sunday morning. He may be stationed there; if not, he will return to England and resume his duties.

In speaking of the weather he said it was cold and damp. During the whole trip back he said the first real warm sunshine was first seen in our own Sunny Alberta.

The culvert on the Butcher speedway has now been replaced and if you feel like giving a line of speed just try it.

The Arbordale Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Hall Ogilvie last week. Last Sunday evening a neat little surprise was sprung on Mrs. F. Butcher, it being her fiftieth birthday. Her daughter had planned a complete job of it, and in the afternoon vehicles of various kinds began to roll in. Dainty refreshments were served in the evening, and tokens of friendship were left to memorize the occasion.

Threshing will be nearly complete in Arbordale this week. Mrs. B. F. and Byron Butcher were in attendance at the Spring Valley Ladies' Aid that was held at the home of Mrs. Byron's mother, Mrs. John Moiler, last week.

RIMBEY RED CROSS

The annual meeting of the Red Cross, Rimby Branch, was held at the home of Mrs. F. Symonds on Nov. 6th. There were about fifteen members present. After passing the various reports, etc., the following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Prosser; Vice-President, Mrs. W. Brooks; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. W. Cooke.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Miss Patch for the very able manner in which she had filled the post of Secretary-Treasurer during the past year.

The next meeting will be held at the Windsor Hotel by kind permission of Mrs. T. Williams, on Friday, Nov. 12th. All ladies invited.

SIR CYPRIAN'S CHURCH

Sunday, Nov. 14.

Holy Communion, 11 a.m.

Sunday School, 12.30.

Evening Service, 7 o'clock.

The evening service and sermon will have special reference to the fact of the day being "World's Temperance Sunday."

The sermons on Sunday last throughout the Archdeaconry of Red Deer called special attention to the need for the revival of family prayer. To help families wishing to take the matter up a prayer card has been issued with a brief form of morning and evening prayer. Copies may be obtained of any Church of England clergyman in the Archdeaconry.

The Rector of St. Cyprian's would like to have the names of all members serving with the colors from this district to add to the list kept in the Church porch. Already three of our boys have been wounded, and one is a prisoner in Germany. We want to remember them all in prayer and thanksgiving.

The women of the Church are getting ready for their annual sale of work, etc. The date is a little earlier this year than usual—Dec. 4th—so as to keep clear of the busy Christmas season. Many interesting competitions are being arranged as follows:

I.—Needlework.
Class 1.—Garment or article, in Plain Sewing.
Class 2.—Garment or article, in Fancy Sewing.

Class 3.—Article in Crochet.
Class 4.—Article in Knitting.

II.—Home-made Cakes.
Class 1.—Fruit Cakes.
Class 2.—Layer Cakes.
Class 3.—Small Cakes.

III.—Home-made Candy.

Conditions.

1. An entrance fee of 10 cents to be paid in each class.

2. The materials or ingredients used must not exceed 25c. in value.

3. The articles in Sec. I (if requested) will be returned; those in the other sections will be sold in aid of the Church funds.

4. Prizes will be given in each class. Judging at 2 o'clock p.m. on Dec. 4th.

5. Articles may be sent in before that date to Mrs. Jones, Alberta Street.

6. Further particulars as to place of judging, etc., will be inserted in the Western Globe.
